

Company Resource Review

Who Benefits

All organisations with the opportunity to manage and trade underutilised resources, both internally and externally.

How Does it Work?

The resource reviews address the non-product outputs from a manufacturing site – including material outputs, energy, process water, asset utilisation, logistics and expertise. International Synergies can identify the current disposal routes (including landfill, waste contractor, and processing), the associated financial and environmental impact, and the opportunities for reducing costs and improving environmental performance.

A typical programme of work includes the following elements:

- Map all non-product resource flows from the site together with the exit route and associated financial cost/revenue;
- Assess the baseline environmental impact of each of these resource flows;
- Identify opportunities for improvement through best practice and industrial symbiosis expertise; and
- Produce a summary report and audiovisual presentation of the opportunities and their potential financial benefits.

Testimonial: An invaluable resource for sharing information, materials, experience, and ideas.
